

StreetDoctors 2018 Review

4039
Young people taught

810
Sessions taught

29 Young people received a first aid at work accreditation

430 Volunteers in 20 volunteer teams
Over 150 delivery partners in 16 cities across the UK

“It has changed my mind, now I wouldn’t think about taking a knife out because I can hurt myself and you just look silly hurting yourself and then giving yourself all these problems and then the guilt of doing it to someone else because that’s someone else’s child.”

Young Person

“It broadened my knowledge to what happens when you’re stabbed and the more serious side. Not many people know the ins and outs like that.”

Young Person

94% of young people agreed that the session has helped them to understand the consequences of violence.

94% of young people agreed that the session has helped them to know what to do when someone is bleeding or unconscious.

85% of young people agreed that they would be willing and able to act if first aid is needed.

